Academic Geriatrician:

The University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio, UT Medicine Primary Care Center is seeking an academic geriatrician at the Assistant Professor or Associate Professor level to join a group of geriatricians and GNP's in the expansion of the Primary Care Center's clinical missions. Ongoing scholarly activity and both inpatient and outpatient geriatric care are required.

Qualifications:

Board certification in family medicine or internal medicine required. Formal fellowship training preferred, eligible for Texas licensure (current Texas license preferred). Eligible for appointment at the Assistant or Associate Professor level. Effective communication skills; excellent health assessment skills; good computer skills; demonstrated ability to work effectively as a member of a collaborative health care team. Sensitivity to psychosocial issues in health care with an emphasis on ethnic issues.

Salary and Benefits:
- Great work/life balance; generous paid-time-off benefit
- Competitive total compensation package
- Generous incentive program
- Annual CME allowance
- Affordable medical, dental & vision insurance
- Excellent retirement benefits
- Malpractice insurance (occurrence coverage)
- Faculty appointment through UT Health Science Center San Antonio
- Opportunities to mentor
- Great team environment

Application Deadline:

Position is currently available. The search will continue until the position is filled. Interested candidates should submit their curriculum vitae to Sara Pastoor, MD, Assistant Professor, UTHSCSA, Primary Care Center Director, 8300 Floyd Curl Drive, San Antonio, TX 78229-3900 or email to: pastoor@uthscsa.edu.

San Antonio, Texas is the state's #1 tourist venue, enjoying a wonderful year-round climate and a wide range of cultural and recreational activities. Housing is affordable and plentiful, and the cost of living is relatively low with no state income taxes. The city also offers a unique quality of family oriented living.

All faculty appointments are designated as security sensitive positions. The University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.